Reading daily with your child can be beneficial for their life! Benefits include: improved language skills, cognitive development, improved imagination & creativity, parental/guardian bond, social-emotional well-being, increased concentration, and cultivating a love for reading!

Social-Emotional Learning is the development of skills that helps us become more self-aware and better able to manage difficult emotions and situations. We work to build these skills in the classroom, here's a fun way to work on social emotional skills at home!

IDEAS: Gather a clear jar and small items (marbles, jelly beans, etc.). Talk about what an act of kindness is (ie sharing a toy with a sibling). Add a small item to the jar for each kind act that someone notices someone else doing. Share with each other when an "act of kindness" is noticed.
